Over the years the festival has changed a lot, yet the objectives we pursue remained the same: to connect people and countries on the short film ground. The first and foremost ambition of the festival is to integrate the community of film-makers, producers, directors and artists beyond the state borders. Even though it is Polish Social and Cultural Association in Dublin, who has created ISFF Oddalenia, the festival participants will be able to see films from various countries at the Final Gala. The idea of the Festival is the promotion of Polish artists and Polish productions, especially the shorts, amongst the English-speaking broad publicity. The International Short Film Festival ODDALENIA collaborates with the other film events in Ireland. Productions awarded at ISFF Oddalenia had been presented at the Richard Harris International Film Festival in Limerick.
